

How Can the Syrian Revolution Win?

Sunday 23rd September, 7pm

British Muslim Heritage Centre, College Road, Whalley Range, Manchester M16 8BP

Speakers include members of Manchester Syrian Community and Simon Assaf, Middle East North Africa Solidarity Network, MENA.

The Syrian civil war, also referred to as the Syrian uprising, is an on-going armed conflict in Syria, being fought between forces loyal to the Ba'ath Party government and those seeking to oust it. The conflict began on 15 March 2011- as part of the wider Arab Spring- with public demonstrations. Protesters demanded the end to nearly five decades of Ba'ath Party rule, as well as the resignation of President Bashar al-Assad.

The Syrian revolution is moving along several tracks. There is a militant street movement in the major cities and along the international borders and there are waves of strikes and demonstrations in smaller towns and villages across the country.

As tens of thousands continue to risk their lives fighting against the Assad regime, the question is: How can the revolution win? And - as importantly - what can we do to support the people of Syria?

Revolution Statistics

Syrians killed: 18,065
Children killed: 1,372
Women killed: 1,331
Soldiers killed: 1,439
Protestors killed under torture: 699
Missing: +65,000
Protestors currently incarcerated: +212,000
Syrian refugees since March: +54,164
Refugees in Turkey: 24,564
Refugees in Lebanon: +24,000
Refugees in Jordan: +5,600

Resource: Qatarliving.com
01/07/2012

Come along and support the Syrian revolution

The campaign welcomes new people and ideas

Jointly Hosted by:

